

SPECIAL ISSUE: ESSAYS IN HONOR OF BRIJ MOHAN
GUEST EDITOR: PRISCILLA D. ALLEN

CONTENTS

Brij Mohan, the person Frank B. Raymond	89
Brij Mohan by himself Priscilla D. Allen	93
Brij Mohan: the evolution of a social scientist S. Zafar Hasan	99
In scientia veritas et spero Christian Aspalter	107
Romanticism, community and social services William M. Epstein	117
From tribal consciousness and subjective rationality toward global consciousness and objective rationality David G. Gil	137
Some philosophical influences on the thought of Brij Mohan Thomas D. Watts	145
The phenomenology of development Robert Kowalski	153
International social development and counter-development Mark Lusk	165
Comparative social welfare: the existential humanist perspective and challenge John Dixon	177
Brij Mohan's social policy analysis: a view from Western Europe Nick Johns and Mark Hyde	189
Social justice as a unifying theme in social work education: principles to realize the promise of a new pedagogical model David R. Hodge	201
Water crisis Sharad K. Jain and Vijay P. Singh	215
Impact of global warming and climate change on social development Ashok K. Mishra, Vijay P. Singh and Sharad K. Jain	239
Social justice: a conservative perspective Bruce A. Thyer	261
Brij Mohan: person, pioneer, and professor Kyle McNease	275
For the record: 10 questions for Brij Mohan Kirpal S. Soodan and Usha R. Srivastava	281